ACADEMY FOR ADVANCING LEARNING LEADERSHIP

ANNOUNCEMENT

A Collaborative Offering (AL2) From Academy for Advancing Leadership and Georgia LEARNS Now

The mission of the collaboration is to provide thought leadership through professional development, relevant experiences and other activities for those who lead learning in organizations. More specifically, we will:

- Assist learning leaders in understanding and working with C-suite executives
- Provide model processes to ensure workforce readiness and to foster learning accountability
- Create a network of peers and advisors to support learning leaders in meeting and exceeding their responsibilities
- Foster change and innovation in corporate learning

Since 2005, AAL has provided learning and development, talent management, and consulting services to higher education, primarily to health professions institutions, as well as other clients. With an Atlanta-based staff, AAL has successfully worked with a group of 30 independent (IRS Form 1099) contractors to execute projects involving over 150 universities and businesses in the U.S. and abroad. AAL's contributions to the AL2 collaboration include the following:

- Staff support for independent contractors
- Market research
- Contract negotiation and execution
- Convening and communicating with the AL2 advisors and consultants
- Facilitation of meetings with AL2 advisors and consultants, including follow up
- Marketing and business development associated with AL2
- Managing relationships with higher education institutions to leverage for knowledge, expertise, and credentials associated with completion of AL2 programs
- Overseeing and providing compensation for 1099 contractors

AAL is an established and recognized entity that brings credibility and visibility to the AL2 initiative.

Georgia LEARNS is an economic development Platform. We engage with Executives involved in Nonprofits, Learning Technology, Technology, Investment, Academia and Consulting. The Platform identifies and funds projects focused on establishing Georgia as the global leader in the effective use of the ALO (Accountable Learning Organization Adaptable Framework) in support of "Performance Assurance" across all spectra of learning. The projects and outcomes will speak louder than words as we maintain this reputation and earn investments from a wide range of sources. These projects will be self-sustaining and produce an ongoing stream of visible results measured in jobs and economic benefits for those that participate. We collaborate with organizations around the world that are open to supporting these initiatives to accelerate positive global impact.
